Welcome to the Reception Reading Meeting

The reading journey... What has happened so far?

- Small babies find pleasure in language
- They enjoy being sung and read to
- They like it when adults tell them stories and rhymes
- Through talking and listening they are discovering how language works

- Through watching other family members read they observe and imitate
- They have been surrounded by print in their environment

The reading journey continues...

*School builds on the experiences of literacy that children bring with them from home and pre-school.

*The journey continues and our school aims to not only teach children to read words on a page, but also help them to become readers who choose to read on their own.

*Research shows that children will stand a better chance of doing well in school if they already enjoy reading and being read to, and are used to talking about books.

The quality of parent talk from a young age partly drives children to become fluent readers by expanding vocabulary. Children expand their vocabulary in other ways too, by listening and joining in with stories, rhymes but if an adult then talks about it directly with the child it increases the benefits. Sharing and talking about books has particular advantages.

Reading is fundamental to education!

Proficiency in reading, writing and spoken language is vital for success and has two main dimensions.

- Language comprehension
- word reading and spelling

Teaching reading is a partnership between Home and School

How can you help at home?

What do we do at school?

What is C.A.P.E.R?

What is CAPER?

C.A.P.E.R. (Children and Parents Enloy Reading) gives you the conortunity to make a positive contribution in helping your child become a confident, fluent and happy reader.

How can you help?

You can help your child towards becoming a confident, fluent and happy reader interested in books by: -

Always

- Choosing a convenient time for some children 5 to 10 minutes may be long enough.
- Stopping if they are bored / uninterested.
- Making sure your child is ready and wants to share a story.
- Giving planty of praise (expecially if they have listened and made comments about the story).
- Remembering that reading / sharing books should be entorable.
- Recording the title of each book with the date.
- Trying to make a comment in the clary (adult or Child), at least 3 times a week. (Once again, do not feel this has to be done each time you share a book.)

If you would like to make a comment, here are some areas you could consider: -

Anything that relates to either: -

- The reading / sharing time together.
- A comment about a character / events in the story.
- Whether the book was entoyed or not, and why.
- Attitude of your child during the sharing time.
- Selection of books being chosen by your child.

The teacher will read your / your child's comments, obviously not daily, and will aim to make a personal comment fortnightly.

ENJOY READING TOGETHER

Children And

Parents Enjoy Reading

How to enjoy C.A.P.E.R. books

- Always choose a convenient time, 5 or 10 minutes may be long enough.
- Make sure your child wants to share a story and stop if they become bored or uninterested.
- It should be an enjoyable experience for both of you. Give lots of praise for good listening and any comments they make.

What comments should I put in the C.A.P.E.R. diary?

- Your comments are helpful for the teacher to see how your child feels about reading. We suggest one or two comments a week, it does not have to be every time you read together.
- You could comment about
 - your child's enjoyment of the book
 - was your child happy to share the book?
 - any opinion your child had on the story or character/s
 - the genre of books your child is selecting/enjoying

This is how we teach reading: Phonics

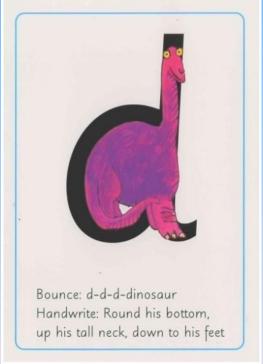

- 1. Phase 1 Rhyming and sound talking
- 2. Phase 2 Initial sounds VC (vowel, consonant at, on, in, as, at etc) and CVC (consonant, vowel, consonant cat, dog, pan, pat) words, segmenting and blending (some digraphs fish, chip)
- 3. Phase 3 Grapheme correspondence and blending to read simple captions.
- 4. Phase 4 Blend and segment words with adjacent consonants (e.g. stand, frog, jumps)
- 5. Phase 5 More graphemes for phonemes, alternative pronunciations break read as breek. Or cow as coe (snow).
- 6. Phase 6 Word specific spellings and increasingly fluent sounding and blending of new words.

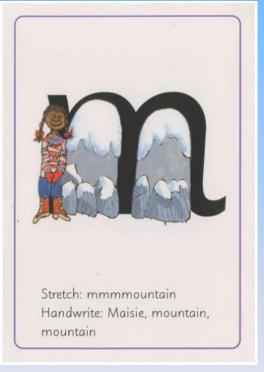

What is RML?

*Ruth Miskin Literacy- Read Write Inc.

With the RML approach the children are initially taught 31 sounds, not just the alphabet. The sounds are taught in a specific order, to allow the children to word build.

Fred talk to read

Fred Talk

What can you do to help at home?

- Speak like Fred throughout the day.
- Play Fred games.
- •Use Fred Talk to read words.
- ·Set aside 10 minutes to watch a film with your child each day.
- •Find a quiet space for your child to watch the film on a laptop or tablet.
- •Praise your child as they join in with the lesson make it fun!

What are red word lists?

We will be introducing

red word lists for all children as soon as we begin teaching phonics.

Red words are words that cannot be segmented and blended, e.g. was and are.

*These words have to be learnt by sight.

*It helps some children to see the overall shape of the word.

*We need to help children make connections between these isolated words and words in the text.

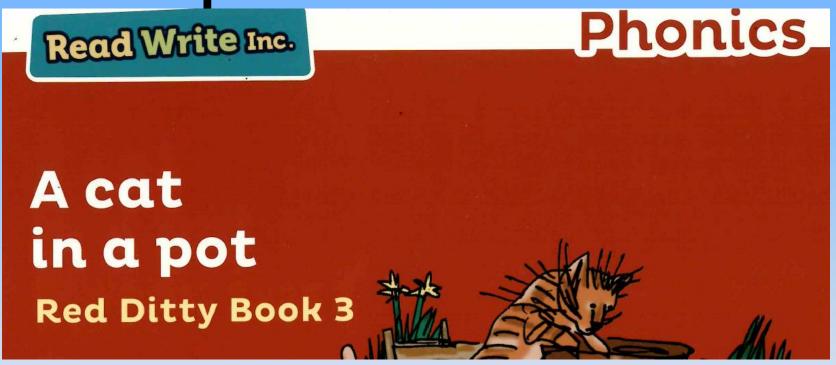

What are group readers?

- The group reader is sent home in a named plastic bag for you to share together.
- When sharing the group reader, encourage retelling; joining in with repeated sections; using the pictures as clues, but not guessing the words; making predictions and asking/answering questions or forming opinions about the story.

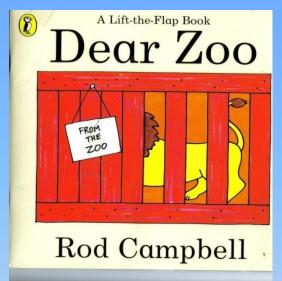

Your child should be able to use the phonic sounds they have been taught to decode the text. Using Fred talk (segmenting and blending) or as they develop confidence, sight reading words they have securely embedded

An example of a group reader

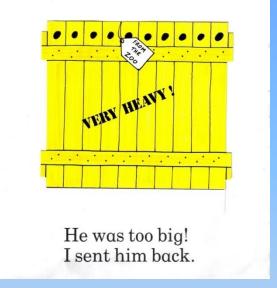

- phonic scheme read.

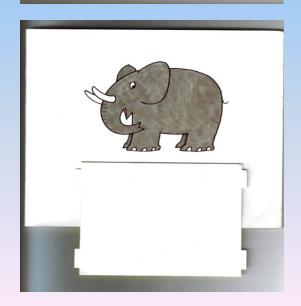

An example of a group reader – familiar read.

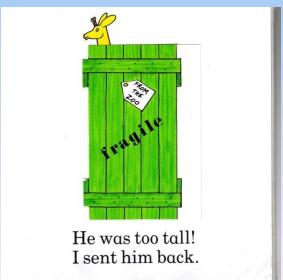

I wrote to the zoo to send me α pet. They sent me α n . . .

So they sent me $\alpha \dots$

Most importantly, reading should be fun!

Our goal is to generate a life-long love of reading and storytelling in your child!
